Dear Editor: A Conversation Series on Writing and Publishing

The Research Medical Library is offering a new educational series beginning January 25th: Dear Editor, a monthly conversation series on scientific writing and publishing. Dear Editor is open to all MD Anderson faculty, trainees, and staff and offers insights on trends and resources in scientific communication.

In the first Dear Editor conversation, our scientific editors and librarians will share their expertise on authorship. Who should be included in the author list? Does position in the author list matter? Can a manuscript have multiple co-first authors?

Join us for a conversation on scientific writing and publishing on January 25th from 10:00 to 10:30am.
